Ignore Russia's Request

UNO Council Agrees To Discuss Iran, Greece and Indonesia Tense Situations

LONDON, Jan. 25.—(P)—The United Nations Security council formally agreed today to discuss the tense military-political situations in Iran, Greece and Indonesia at its next meeting.

The council thus disregarded a request from Soviet Russia that it decline to take up the dispute over Iran.

The next meeting will be held Monday.

The action came on the motion of the American delegate Edward R. Stettinius, Jr., after British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin had declared he was "so tired of these charges by the Soviet Union in private" (against Britain) that he was anxious for a full discussion at the earliest possible moment.

The 11-member council, proceedings to put the new world peace organizations in working order, took steps to get its military staff committee functioning. The council ordered military representatives of the principal powers to hold their first meeting here by Feb. 1 when work will be started on the special agreements by which nations are to pledge land, sea and air forces to enforce security council orders when necessary.

Russia Opposed
The action to take up the situations in Iran, Greece and Indonesia came two hours after Russia had registered categorical opposition to discussion of the Iran complaint that the Red army has been interfering in Iran's internal affairs.

The chief Soviet delegate, vice commissar of foreign affairs Andrei Vishinsky, filed a letter with the council president, N. J. O. Makin of Australia, setting forth a five-point reply to the Iranian charge. He declared Iran's complaints were groundless and that the channels of direct negotiation between the two countries were open.

Vishinsky demanded and received assurances from the council president however that the decision to discuss the Iranian case would not adversely affect Russia's argument that the situation there is an internal one.

Any Position
Makin said that at the next meeting the Soviet Union could take whatever position it chose.

The council adopted an Egyptian proposal that Iran, the Ukraine and Greece, which are not members of the council, should be invited to the Monday session, thus giving them a chance to air their views on the controversies in which they are directly concerned.

The statement was released by the UNO information service just two hours before the security council was to go into session to decide whether it should consider not only Iran's charges against Russia but also Russia's charges of British interference in the affairs of Greece and Indonesia.

Russia Has no Veto
Although Russia thus voiced her opposition to council consideration of Iran's case, she does not have a veto on whether it will be discussed.

The question of taking up all three cases will be decided by a majority vote of the 11 members and unanimity is not required among the five principal powers.

U. S. delegate Edward R. Stettinius, Jr., reiterating the stand taken yesterday by Secretary of State James F. Byrnes, told the American delegation early today he was prepared to support a proposal for council consideration of all three cases and for holding a hearing on them as soon as possible.

Pickets Become Unruly

NEW YORK, Jan. 25.—(P)—Six persons were arrested during disorders which broke out at the main building of the Western Union company, 80 Hudson street, this morning, when police said, a procession of 200 pickets suddenly became a surging, unruly crowd.

Juveniles are Seen Running From School

Two Schools Robbed; Youth Admits Two Sedalia Robberies

Two robberies in Sedalia have been cleared up by the admission of the thirteen-year-old boy, who was picked up early Thursday morning, but there still remain several others still on the unsolved list. It is evident the boy did not commit two school robberies which occurred Thursday night and in which three boys were seen to leave one place, the Smith-Cotton high school.

The boy held by the police after much questioning by Chief of Police Anson Finnell and Cecil Glenn, probation officer, admitted two robberies in Sedalia. He told of "squeezing" between two garage doors at the Foster Grocery, Sixteenth street and Grand avenue, going inside and stealing $73 from a pocketbook found on a shelf in the place.

At first the boy insisted he got only $45 but later to Chief Finnell, he admitted getting $73. He then admitted breaking into the Crouch Grocery which is at 810 West Sixteenth street and getting 100 pennies and some cigarettes. He told the officers the two robberies were all he committed.

Robbery Not Reported reported to the police department, and not known to them until the boy told where he had gotten the money.

The youth was picked up in the lobby of a local hotel, when seen there by Officers Swearingen and Lutjen at an early hour Thursday. Having had orders from the Chief of Police to pick up any boys or suspicious characters seen on the streets late at night or during the early morning hours, the officers felt the boy had no business sitting around a hotel lobby at the hour they found him.

He is to be taken before Judge Dimmitt Hoffman in juvenile court.

The boy admitted to Cecil Glenn recently that he took a bicycle from 1320 South Grand avenue, which he later called at police headquarters to report as stolen from him while he was in the picture show. He was released to his brother who was supposed to have sent him back to his parents in Kansas City.

Instead of going back to Kansas City, he left his brother's home and went to a local hotel where he rented a room and stayed several nights. He paid for his room in advance and at the time told of having missed his bus.

Could Have Shot Her if He Wanted to BRIDGEPORT, Conn., Jan. 25.—(P)—Elliott C. Beardsley, Monroe farmer, testified in superior court that on an occasion when they both were "feeling pretty good," he demonstrated his skill with a rifle by "plunking" a tin can balanced on top of his wife's head. Beardsley described the William Tell incident yesterday while defending a divorce suit which charges him with intolerable cruelty and habitual intemperance.

Identifying himself as a former cowboy, Beardsley said he was careful not to hit his wife, and remarked that "if I wanted to shoot her, I could have shot her." Judge James E. Murphy reserved his decision.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25.—(P)—The test of the A-bomb versus the modern warship stacked up today as a proposition that will cost close to a half billion dollars, if not more.

The exact amount was impossible to calculate, but navy figures supplied an indication of what would be involved in the forthcoming atomic experiment in the Pacific.

This is what they show: It cost $230,000,000 alone for the hulls and engines of the 47 U. S. combat units assigned to the guinea pig fleet.

It cost more than $100,000,000 more for the navy transports which make up about half of the 47 non-combat types which also will be targets.

Heavy Operating Expense
Moreover, navy men have estimated unofficially that the operating expenses involved in staging the experiment next spring will run approximately $100,000,000.

The pay of personnel and cost of supplies would boost that total. No estimates are available on the one German and two Japanese warships that will be used in the test, but all are of the most costly types.

The hull-and-engine costs are but a part of the total outlay for the U. S. warships, but no figures could be obtained on the expense of armament and fittings that boost the final cost total. On the other hand, the ships will be stripped of much of their guns and fittings for the tests.

The figures do not take into account subsequent expenditures for modernization, which in the case of the battleship Nevada ran more than $7,000,000, exceeding her original hull-and-engine cost.

Ships Value Negligible
Vice Admiral W. H. Blandy, commander of the experiment, declined at a press conference yesterday to estimate the current worth of the ships or the cost of the operation.

Noting the age of the warships, which exceeds 30 years for all four of the American battleships, he insisted that they were of negligible value now for fighting purposes and that monetary cost values would be irrelevant.

"The value of the experiments will be greater than the cost," he maintained, declaring the information to be obtained toward shaping the national defense to the atomic era would be of incalculable worth to the country's future.

Offices To Go To Columbia

Temporary Move By The Bankers Association

COLUMBIA, Mo., Jan. 25.—(P)—Temporary transfer of the offices of the Missouri Bankers Association from Sedalia to Columbia will become effective February 1, R. L. Hill, secretary of the organization, announced Thursday night.

Hill said the council of administration of the association recently authorized the transfer and stipulated that a lease for quarters, not exceeding two years, might be obtained here.

Two members of the association's staff at Sedalia, Emil P. Neef, assistant secretary and Miss Rebelle Shaeffer will come to Columbia in the transfer, Hill said.

The offices of the Missouri Bankers Association were brought to Sedalia from Butler, Mo., in February 1904 Secretary W. F. Keyser coming here at that time to be in charge.

He remained as secretary of the association until in June 1944 when R. L. Hill was made secretary on Mr. Keyser's retiring after forty years service as such official.

Bill Signed to Lift Lid on School Taxes

Districts May Vote Normal Levy If Necessary

JEFFERSON CITY, Jan. 25.—(P)—A bill lifting the lid on the amount of taxes that may be voted by the electors of a Missouri school district was signed by Gov. Phil M. Donnelly today. It takes effect immediately.

The new law makes it possible for two-thirds of a district's voters to increase normal levies by any amount found to be necessary by the school board. The extra tax would be in addition to these regular taxes:

40 cents on each $100 assessed valuation for a sinking fund; a levy large enough to pay interest on bonded indebtedness and for other funds, 89 cents in the city of St. Louis, $1 in other city and town districts and 65 cents for all rural districts.

The bill was one of 20 signed by the governor including a series of six setting tax limitations for cities.

Tax Limits
Under the city tax bills, special charter cities like Hannibal and Louisiana would be limited to a total tax of $1.90 per $100 assessed valuation; the city of St. Louis to $1.87; first class cities (St. Joseph) to $1.60; third class cities $1.90; fourth class cities $1.65 and towns and villages $1.40.

In each case, 30 cents of the total would be subject to approval by two-thirds of the voters. Similar legislation was enacted earlier for second class cities.

Other bills signed included: One setting aside $18,000,000 in the state treasury as a postwar reserve fund; one establishing a regulatory system under the state agriculture department for cold storage locker plants; one putting commercial caverns under inspection of the state bureau of mines; one allowing fourth class cities to dispose of utilities on a two-thirds popular vote, and one allowing counties to replace obsolete sections of county 100-mile road systems with new mileage plans.

Indian Agent Is Charged

TAHLEQUAH, Okla., Jan. 25.—(P)—Vance J. Lowery, a 40-year-old Indian agent of "splendid reputation," prepared his defenses today against a charge that he murdered a dark and demure Cherokee girl employed as his secretary.

Lowery, accused in the Wednesday night shooting of Juanita Butler, 27, engaged W. W. Miller and Wesley Miller, a Tahlequah father and son law firm to represent him at a preliminary hearing February 26. He had steadfastly maintained that the girl shot herself accidentally with a pistol he said she took from the glove compartment of his automobile.

Robert Butler, the secretary's father and a former employee of the Indian department, arrived from Muskogee to complete funeral arrangements for the 1939 graduate of Haskell institute.

County Attorney Houston B. Teehee said both Lowery and Miss Butler had "splendid" reputations in the community.

Lowery, who has a wife and three children, was transferred here last March from Chickasha, Okla. He was free today under $3,000 bond following his plea of innocent at an appearance before peace justice R. W. Walker.

Scientists in Radar Contact With the Moon

Pulses of Very High Frequency Shot Into Space

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25.—(P)—The war department announced Thursday that army signal corps scientists had made radar contact with the moon in an experiment which promises "valuable peacetime as well as wartime applications."

The tests were carried out at the Evans signal laboratory, Belmar, N. J. The first contact with the moon was made Jan. 10 and has been successfully repeated several times.

NEW YORK, Jan. 25.—(P)—The sound that the moon sent back to the earth lasted half a second and took the form of a 180-cycle note, or somewhat higher in pitch than the hum heard on a home radio when a station is not tuned in. Army officers who conducted the tests related.

The echo also was recorded visually on an oscilloscope, where it appeared as a series of jagged-saw-tooth lines. An oscilloscope is an instrument for showing visually the changes in varying current.

Using specially designed equipment, pulses of very high frequency energy were shot into space at the speed of light—186,000 miles per second—and the echoes detected some 2½ seconds later. The moon is about 237,857 miles distant, on the average, as both it and the earth move around the sun.

"The signal corps experiments have valuable peacetime as well as wartime applications, although it is impossible at this stage to predict with certainty what these will be," the war department said. One of the possibilities is the radio control of long-range jet or rocket-propelled missiles, circling the earth above the stratosphere. The German V-2 missiles were believed to have reached an altitude of 60 miles.

Contact Four Years Ago
LOS ANGELES, Jan. 25.—(P)—W. E. Osborne, former Australian army major, told newsmen last night that Australian scientists made radar contact with the moon four years ago.

"Working with Dr. J. H. Piddington, a scientist in the radio-physics laboratory at the University of Sydney, we contacted the moon several times in October on November, 1941," said Osborne, who is doing secret research work for the American government here.

"Using experimental high-powered radar equipment, we directed it at the moon and almost immediately identified pulses which were checked and re-checked. The time interval was 2.4 seconds. I would rather not divulge the frequency but it was an extremely short micro-wave. The point that amazed us all was that we were able to get through the atmospheric layers because it was believed it couldn't be done."

Osborne has experimented with electronics and radar for many years and predicts rocket trips to the moon within the next 10 years.

The will of Frank Fair was filed in Probate court. The instrument was properly witnessed, but Mr. Fair had not signed it, and the matter has been taken under advisement by Judge Smith.

Agreement to End the Truck Drivers' Strike in St. Louis

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 25.—(P)—An agreement to end the 18-day truck drivers' strike, which has paralyzed distribution and delivery service in this area, was reached early today at a conference of leaders of two locals of the AFL Teamsters' and Chauffeurs' Union and the St. Louis Team and Truck Owners' Association.

Union leaders said every effort would be made to get the 1,500 drivers back to work today to start moving the mountains of goods that have piled up in freight terminals and warehouses since the strike began January 7.

Under the agreement, the drivers will receive pay increases ranging from $5.10 to $7.60 a week and vacation benefits, however, last minute negotiations did not reduce the work week from 48 to 40 hours, as demanded earlier by the union.

The strike caused many businesses and industries to shut down for lack of supplies, resulting in idleness for about 60,000 persons in the St. Louis area alone. Other thousands in Missouri, Illinois, Arkansas and Kentucky also were affected.

A late morning check showed that most of the 1,500 drivers had returned to their jobs and trucking operations were getting back to normal. Efforts were being made to notify all drivers of the settlement and those who called union headquarters were instructed to report for work.

Lumberman Blames OPA

KANSAS CITY, Jan. 25.—(P)—Government intervention and regulation in the building industry were blamed last night by speakers at the Southwestern Lumberman's association convention here as major factors in the present housing shortage.

G. H. Zimmerman of Waco, Texas, declared, "the OPA has made it impossible for private industry to get the material with which to operate."

C. C. Sheppard, Clarks, La., told the members of the mills of the southern pine lumber industry cannot and will not operate under the OPA ceiling regulations "because they do not want to go broke."

A Chicago editor, Edward G. Gavin, asserted, "We are in the middle of a second phase of the war — to knock Chester Bowles and the OPA out of the government picture."

Third Trial in Keele Case Is Underway

The trial of Lawrence Keele, charged with robbery in the first degree, was started in circuit court this morning. It is the third trial for Keele on this charge, hung juries resulting in two previous trials in the local court. Keele, is accused of having participated in the robbery of Forrest P. Norris, at the latter's hamburger stand at Third street and Engineer avenue, in March of 1945, at which time Mr. Norris was seriously wounded.

Keele, it is alleged, assisted Robert Dooley, now serving a ten year sentence in the Missouri State penitentiary, who pleaded guilty to the charges last March. Dooley has asserted throughout, since his arrest, the gun which he carried and which he used to shoot Mr. Norris belonged to Keele, who was in a dump truck outside the building to drive him away.

Norris Fired
At the time, Norris, after being wounded in the stomach, returned to his room in back of the business part of the building, obtained a gun and as Dooley was leaving the building fired at him wounding Dooley in the back. The wounded boy was taken to the Gillespie funeral home by Keele, dumped out on the grass and after summoning Jacob F. Dooley out of Gillespie's to take Dooley to the hospital, departed.

Keele was arrested later that night by Sergeant Mays of the Military Police officer on duty downtown who turned him over to the local authorities.

Dooley was returned to Sedalia Wednesday from Jefferson City to appear as a witness in the trial against Keele. He is being held in the city jail during the trial.

Members of the jury hearing the evidence in the trial are: C. E. Wise, Clarence Wadleigh, R. C. Haight, I. T. Pittman, Jim Baslee, E. P. Bemis, W. E. Turk, Oscar Monette, P. Puckett, F. B. Brockman, T. J. Pace, and E. L. Bohon.

The first witness to testify was Doyle Ward, who was frying hamburgers in the place at the time of the holdup and who turned the money over to Dooley during the holdup.

Mr. Norris was on the witness stand this afternoon.

Story Hour Saturday
The regular Saturday morning story hour for children will be held at the Sedalia public library at 10 o'clock. Miss Lavilla Smart, children's librarian, will relate "Lassie Come Home," "The Steadfast Tin Soldier" and "Three Silly Lies."

Saturday Mo. Pacific Payday
Saturday will be payday for all employees of the Missouri Pacific in Sedalia.

To Review Death Sentence

MONTCLAIR, N. J., Jan. 25.—(P)—Pfc. Joseph E. Hicwa, sentenced to death by an army court martial for killing two Japanese civilians, will be returned to the United States promptly and the file in his case will be given to the Judge Advocate General for review in Washington, U. S. Senator Albert W. Hawkes (R-NJ) said he had been informed by the war department today.

Hawkes expressed the opinion that the war department "realizes it has to give careful consideration to this case in view of the large numbers of protests" voiced since the announcement from Osaka, Japan, that Hicwa had been sentenced to death.

'Raw Deal' Declares CIO Head

Committee Votes Unanimously Not To Return to Work Under Government

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25.—(P)—The government apparently was caught by surprise today by a CIO union decision not to return to work in government-seized packing plants.

There were hasty conferences, but no immediate action was forthcoming.

Secretary of agriculture Anderson, designated by President Truman to take over the struck plants at 12:01 a. m. Saturday, and who earlier today asked leaders of the striking unions to return to work, said he had "no comment whatever." The same response was given questioners at the labor department and the White House.

The official quandary was thus summed up by one official closely concerned with the seizure plan:

"I don't know what the government can do. You can not arrest 200,000 people, I suppose."

CHICAGO, Jan. 25.—(P)—Lewis J. Clark, CIO Packinghouse Workers union president, announced the union's national wage policy committee voted "unanimously" today not to return to work when the government seizes struck packing plants at 12:01 a. m. tomorrow.

The CIO United Packinghouse Workers is the larger of two unions whose strike of more than a week has cut heavily into the nation's supplies. The CIO group has 193,000 members. The AFL Amalgamated Meat Cutters and Butcher Workmen, with 55,000 members on strike, has ordered its membership to go back.

The CIO union's national wage policy committee took its action as government officials gathered in Chicago to draft plans for seizing the meat plants, under presidential order.

Clark's announcement read:

"The president of the United States, in directing the seizure of the plants has engaged in a strikebreaking action, the sole effect of which can be to play into the hands of the packers. Charges 'Double Cross'."

"The government seizure order is a complete double-cross because prior to the announcement of the seizure this union had received from high governmental officials assurances that the order would contain provisions for making effective increases (in wages) that the (fact finding) panel might recommend."

"Under this order of seizure, the department of agriculture, notoriously sympathetic to the packing interests, will operate the plants."

"This union calls on the entire trade union movement and on groups of citizens everywhere to join with them in assuring that the action suggested here will be made effective."

"The United Packinghouse Workers of America desire to cooperate with their government, but under the circumstances they can only believe that the government is helping the cause of the packers and giving the workers a raw deal."

Demand 'Consideration'
"We are prepared to return to work at such time as we are assured that the equities of our case will be given consideration and that a substantial wage increase will be put in effect."

When a newspaperman asked whether picketing would be continued Clark declared at a news conference:

"If you go out to the stock yards with your camera tomorrow, I assume you will find the pickets there."

Asked about the CIO action in the face of the AFL decision to resume work, Clark replied:

"My personal opinion is there will be a rebellion in the ranks of the AFL. We do not pull puppet strings in our organization and we have no two-man rule."

"I believe the sentiment in the rank and file in the AFL is the same as that in the CIO."

The Laws of a People. Scripture
Exodus 19-23, especially Exodus 19:7-8; 20:1-2; 20:24.

By William E. Gilroy, D. D.
Moses stands in history as a great law-giver, as well as a great deliverer.

The Ten Commandments, which have endured through the ages though men have not always obeyed them are only a part of extensive moral and hygienic codes which Moses established, or were later set for guidance in Israel.

It must be obvious to every intelligent reader that all parts of the law are not of equal value in moral or social worth.
The times were crude and in some respects cruel. One reads in Deuteronomy 2:34, and in Deuteronomy 3:4-6, how in the war of conquest Moses took over 60 large, walled cities "besides unwalled towns a great many,"
and "utterly destroyed" the inhabitants, men women "and the little ones."

Possibly this was no more ruthless than the practice of the peoples whom the Israelites fought but it sounds too much like the Hitlerite ruthlessness of our own time; and surely the Christian conscience must recoil against it.

We tend too much in our reading of the Bible to pass over such passages without really visualizing them; but they ought to remind us that we must read with discrimination and moral judgment. Moses and many others in history have said and done things in the name of God that God would not own. We should remember, too, that Jesus proclaimed a higher law and a way of mercy and grace, where the Jewish law was harsh and exacting.

When Jesus referred to those of old time who said "an eye for an eye and a tooth for a tooth," he was quoting Exodus 21:24 and the word of Jesus was "I say unto you that ye resist not evil."
Christ's law of forgiveness is higher than the law of measured justice; though the Mosaic provision for measured justice meant progress from the rule of blind vengeance. An eye for an eye and a tooth for a tooth, was better than the fury that demanded a life for an eye or a life for a tooth.

We must grasp very clearly and firmly the fact that in the Bible we have a progressive revelation of God and His goodness.

The Mosaic law in Exodus 21 made provisions about servitude and slavery that we would deplore today, though what was really significant in the light of the times was the care provided lest slavery or bondage, or debt, become permanent. We must measure the greatness and progressiveness of Moses in relation to his times, but also his backwardness in relation to Christ and all that is best in Christian civilization. Thus measured, Moses stands towering like Mount Sinai and his contribution to the world, and to modern laws and law-givers, reveals how much we owe to that great Deliverer.

Sin and The Soul

One of Tolstoy's celebrated folk tales is that of a drunkard who was made tutor to two young children and decided to reform because he could not endure the unconscious reproach of their innocent, pure eyes. One never looks into a child's eyes without sensing the beauty with which God has endowed its soul. But what is the reaction when we look into our own souls and behold the pollution caused by sin? Are we spurred to repentance, or tempted into the ultimate folly of despair?

It is Christian teaching that no matter how often, or to what degree, he has sinned, man may restore his soul to its pristine glory by sincere repentance and reform. Grave sin not only besmirches the soul, but robs it of life. It is perhaps because they cannot perceive the inner tragedy wrought by sin in their souls that so many persist in their evil, or seek to postpone the day of repentance. The danger here is that they may come to despair of forgiveness and thus commit the greatest of all follies—the denial of God's mercy.

It is good to have such a fear of God that it will deter us from offending Him, and bringing His wrath upon us. The fear of God is the beginning of wisdom. But it is far from being all of wisdom. The soul in its relation to God must nurture a holy fear, but it must also be stirred by the desire to love and be loved by its Creator.

If the sinner will remember that God is all-merciful and kind as well as just, he will not only find the path that leads back to God, but discover Him waiting with outstretched arms. There has never yet been a truly repentant sinner to whose soul God has not delighted to restore its lost beauty and life.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

"TRUTH" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, January 27, 1946.

Golden Text: Psalms 100:5.
Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "For we can do nothing against the truth, but for the truth." (II Cor. 13:8).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Because Truth is infinite, error should be known as nothing. Because Truth is omnipotent in goodness, error, Truth's opposite, has no might. Evil is but the counterpoise of nothingness. The greatest wrong is but a supposititious opposite of the highest right. The confidence inspired by Science lies in the fact that Truth is real and error is unreal." (p-367).

Resignation Of Tracy Accepted

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25—(P)—Pres. Truman Thursday accepted the resignation of Daniel W. Tracy as first assistant secretary of labor, effective tomorrow.

In an exchange of letters made public by the White House, Tracy gave no reason for stepping out. He said he had served in his present post more than five years under Secretaries Perkins and Schwellenbach and told President Truman:

"You have discharged your duties x x x with wisdom, courage and decision, to the admiration of all Americans x x x if you think I can be of service in any emergency you have only to call upon me."

Tracy is a former President of the AFL electrical workers union. The President told him he had been a "pillar of strength" in the labor department.

Relief of 'Desert Rats' Fell to Eighth

By NEA Service

Long before it sailed for overseas as a unit, the Eighth Armored (Iron Snake) Division had struck some solid blows at the Wehrmacht. More than 50,000 officers and men trained by the Eighth had shipped abroad to fill gaps in other divisions.

The Eighth's first taste of battle came in the Third Army's preliminary attack against the Moselle-Saar salient. By the end of February, 1945, the Eighth was at Roermond, Holland, where it had been rushed secretly to relieve the British Seventh Armored Division — the famed "Desert Rats."

On March 27, the Iron Snake doughs crossed the Rhine, with all equipment, in 24 hours. The Eighth then joined battle with the 116th Panzer Division in its drive toward Dortsen, key point of the then forming Ruhr pocket. The Eighth ground ahead relentlessly.

With a shift in Allied plans, the Iron Snake men drove toward Soest. The division fought into Unna, near Dortmund, and then was pulled out of the line and sent racing to Wofenbuttel, 100 miles away.

From there the division was moved further south, pointed toward Blankenburg. After a heavy artillery and air softening process, the division attacked in a combined tank-infantry assault, and the city fell before dark of the same day the attack was launched.

This was the division's last major battle. After V-E Day, the Eighth Armored moved to Choteschau, Czechoslovakia.

Harry Rabenhorst, Louisiana State basketball coach, tells this one on one of his freshman players. . . . When the Tigers visited Tuscaloosa to play Alabama, the youngster turned up missing from his hotel room on a rainy evening. . . . Just 25 minutes before the team was to leave for the gym, the tired, soaked, youngster appeared to answer Rabenhorst's query "Where you been?" "Coach," the kid explained, "I was looking all over for that needle Harry Gilmer has been threading for the past two years and I got caught in the rain." . . . Rabenhorst forgave him on the grounds that its just as hard to find a needle in the capstone as in a haystack.

Auto Driving Made Safe for Amputees

To make automobile driving simple and safe for veterans with amputations or other crippling limb disabilities, the U. S. surgeon general, automotive engineers and manufacturers have collaborated on a number of ingenious devices. Photo above shows a handless amputee controlling steering with one hook and operating accelerator, clutch and brakes with a single lever. Latter device can be used by legless man. Driving aids do not need a special car but can be installed on any standard model.

Byrnes Back to Washington In 'Sacred Cow'

UNO Orders the Creation of Control Commission

By John M. Hightower
WASHINGTON, Jan. 25—(P)—United Nations today ordered the creation of a special commission to devise controls for atomic energy and moved swiftly toward action on three critical political issues involving Iran, Greece and Indonesia.

A few hours after the general assembly had voted unanimously to set up the atomic commission under the Security Council, Secretary of State James F. Byrnes left for Washington in President Truman's plane the "Sacred Cow."

In a leave taking with reporters Byrnes announced that the United States favored the quickest possible public hearings by the Security Council on charges filed by Russia against the British in Greece and Indonesia, and by Iran against Russia.

The Security Council ordered a meeting of its 11 members tomorrow to take up the three cases, and American officials strongly expected that the council would decide to hold public hearings on the three controversial cases next week.

For Quick Hearings
In his opinion, Byrnes said, the quicker the three cases are given full hearings the better it would be.

Particularly pleased that the first formal action of the assembly on a major question had as its objective the limitation of military armament, Byrnes said the Americans' next move on the atomic question would be to urge the governments to appoint their members to the new commission as soon as possible so it can get organized at UNO headquarters in the United States.

Other developments today included the proposal by the Americans before the general assembly's trusteeship committee that hundreds of millions of people under colonial rule be assured that the ideals of the United Nations on self-rule and independence apply to them as well as to the people living under mandates and trusteeships.

The general assembly adopted a committee report setting the secretary general's net salary at $20,000 annually plus a $20,000 expense account, and fixing the term of his appointment at five years with the possibility of reappointment for a second five-year term.

An Economy Drive Is On By Republicans

Shear Emergency And Other Funds On The President

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25—(P)—An economy drive by house Republicans today sheared President Truman of a $5,000,000 emergency fund and a $1,650,000 addition to the White House and stopped just short of cutting his salary.

The action came during passage of a $5,593,262,626 appropriation bill to finance a score of executive and independent agencies for the fiscal year starting July 1.

Rep. Taber (R-NY) proposed an amendment to slash by ten per cent the salary funds of all the agencies except the veterans administration. It failed on a roll-call vote of 175 to 145.

Taber told reporters his intention was to force a reduction in the number of employees. He said his proposal was not aimed particularly at trimming the President's $75,000 a year salary but acknowledged it would have had that effect.

The denial to the President of the use of a $5,000,000 balance remaining in his emergency fund was made when Taber raised a technicality. It did not permit a vote.

Curb On Epanson

Mr. Truman had said that a storm aroused by his proposed addition to the White House was just a tempest in a teapot, but the project was blown away only a short time after he had spoken.

An amendment by Rep. Case (R-SD) directed that $883,660 of the construction fund, approved last year, be used for general White House expenses and the remaining $766,340 be returned to the treasury. It was adopted by a standing, not a record, vote but almost every Republican in the chamber as well as some Democrats stood up for it.

No effort was made to reverse the decision, although Democrats could have forced a roll-call later had they wished. However, two other amendments put in by Republicans without roll-calls were taken out subsequently on record votes.

One would have prohibited the budget bureau from using any of its money on informational programs inherited from the old office of war information. It was turned down by a roll-call of 177 to 152 after having been approved by a non-record count of 86 to 81.

The other would have put all salary allotments on a quarterly basis, giving the agencies their pay funds every three months instead of all in one lump at the start of the year. It was approved tentatively 96 to 86 and then rejected by a roll-call of 170 to 153.

It was designed to warn the agencies that they should not apply later for deficiency funds for personnel pay.

Two Republican amendments were rejected outright. One would have cut $250,000 from the federal communications commission's allotment; the other would have cut from $300,000 to $25,000 the funds for the office of administration of the public works agency.

After disposing of the amendments, the house passed the final bill on a roll-call vote of 299 to 6. It now goes to the senate, which may restore the emergency fund balance and the money for the White House addition and ask the house to agree.

Police Battle With Rioters

By G. MILTON KELLY
BOMBAY, Jan. 25—(P)—Police battled sporadically Thursday night with bands of demonstrators who had thrown up barricades earlier in riots in Bombay, and the toll in two days of bloody fighting mounted to 14 killed and at least 500 injured.

Police fired again today on the demonstrators, and the provincial information office in a statement tonight declared the situation remained "very dangerous."

Qualified observers predicted the riots would reach a peak by Saturday, when the Indians will celebrate the 16th anniversary of the Indian National Congress declaration of independence. Police officials said it seemed certain troops would be called if the rioting continues.

A mob attacked the Khandiwadi police station in the latest incident.

For Speeding Sixth War Map Too Small

By NEA Service
At one point in its remarkable race across France, the Sixth Armored Division covered 48 miles in 24 hours, causing its commander, Maj.-Gen. Robert W. Grow, to say:

"These maps are too small. Give me a map large enough so I won't run off it today."

The Super Sixth, landing in Normandy late in July, shifted its gears into high and hit out for Brittany. In two weeks the division had reached the outskirts of Brest, its Combat Command A had trapped 40,000 Nazis, and the division had swept on, leaving the mopping-up for the infantry. At Dijon, after capturing many towns en route, the Super Sixth linked up with the Seventh Army and worked its way up to the Saar River.

When Von Rundstedt launched his winter counteroffensive, the Sixth was shifted to the sector south of the Ardennes, relieving the Tenth Armored. Five days later, it was back in the Bastogne area. For 23 days, fighting in cold so intense the tank doors had to be hammered open, the Sixth fought the Nazis to a standstill.

After that, the boys began free-wheeling again. When the division met the 26th Infantry Division, the linking of the Third and Seventh Armies was effected.

From here on in, it was clear

Navy Half Way Demobilizing

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25—(P)—The navy passed the half-way mark in demobilization Thursday with discharge of its 1,500,000th naval reservist.

He was Eugene Lowell Smith, fire controlman second class, of Watsonville, Calif. He entered the navy Dec. 14, at the age of 17 and won 11 Pacific battle stars. He was discharged at the Shoemaker, Calif., separation center.

Congratulations and wish for "good sailing" were broadcast to Smith over ABC by Vice-Admiral Louis E. Denfeld, chief of naval personnel.

Denfeld addressed "Mr." Smith as "symbol and representative of more than 3,000,000 citizen-sailors of America who did the grandest job with the greatest fleet in the most terrible war in the history of the world."

"The navy is proud of that figure, 1,500,000. It means that we have kept our word, and even bettered it a little," Denfeld said. "That, in the face of difficulties, we will remain ahead of our demobilization schedule has given us a lot of satisfaction, and I believe the navy will complete the job on time."

The navy is scheduled to pass the two-thirds mark in demobilization by April 2.

Must Act in Public Interest

HANNIBAL, Mo., Jan. 25—(P)—America will "realize its destiny by demanding that civic, industrial and labor leaders act in the public interest," Henry La Cossitt, editor of Colliers' magazine, told a banquet of the Chamber of Commerce here last night.

La Cossitt, who formerly resided here, called Hannibal and "a thousand other towns like it the heartland of the middlewest which will influence the destiny of the United States and of the world."

The Doctor Says

Special Training Required for Diabetics

By WILLIAM A. O'BRIEN, M. D.
Written for NEA Service

The physician who diagnoses diabetes in his patient plays the most important role in the outcome of the disease. The patient should be told quite frankly the nature of his disease, the fact that it probably will last his lifetime, and the necessity for continuous scientific care. The new diabetic has many things to learn, and a hospital stay is helpful in getting a good start.

Dr. O'Brien

Every case of diabetes is an individual problem. Management of the disease is not difficult, but it is time-consuming.

Patients Treat Selves

Purpose of diabetic treatment is to prevent loss of sugar through the urine, to prevent an abnormal breakdown of protein and its conversion into sugar, and to hold fast metabolism in check. Proper treatment will make the patient look well, feel well and enjoy life. All diabetic patients must be taught to test their own urine and to keep themselves sugar free.

Good diabetic management is based upon proper diet. Although various diets are used, there is one point on which all agree; that is to keep the total calories down so the patient stays slim. When overweight is corrected, diabetes improves. The various diets also are in agreement in mineral, protein and vitamins recommended; the only variation is in amounts of fat and sugar prescribed.

Diets Start Simply

The diets very with age, sex, weight and occupation of the patient. New diabetics usually are started on a simple diet and alterations are made as indicated.

Insulin is given to diabetic patients to compensate for deficiency of the pancreas. A normal person secretes a small amount of insulin at all times, and a large amount when he eats starch and sugar. The average diabetic patient injects a single dose of protamine insulin each morning, which works slowly, lessening the danger of insulin shock resulting from an overdose. Hunger, weakness, sweating, trembling and apprehension are signs of beginning insulin reaction, and unless the condition is corrected, loss of consciousness may follow. A small amount of sugar by mouth usually will correct the condition.

Who pays the wages?

Men and women who work for wages get their pay checks from the company. Where does the company get its money?

Obviously, from the sale of its products. In other words, from other men and women who buy what workers make.

Most of what the customer pays goes for wages, directly and indirectly.

If workers ask too much for their services, the prices of the products they make get too high. Fewer customers are able to buy.

The result is fewer sales and fewer jobs.

For the sake of employes, just as much as for the sake of investors, management must keep in mind the fact that the customer pays the wages.

Thus, in the long run sales and jobs grow from a proper balance between wages and prices.
